THE GRAY SWAN

Is my little lad, my Elihu,
A sailing with your ship?"
The sailor's eyes were dim with dew—
"Your little lad, your Elihu?"
He said with trembling lip—
"What little lad? what ship?"

"What little lad? as if there could be Another such a one as he! What little lad, do you say? Why Elihu, that took to sea The moment I put him off my knee! It was just the other day The Gray Swan salled away."

"The other day!" the sailor's eyes "The other day? the Swan?"
"The other day? the Swan?"
His heart began in his throat to rise,
"Ay, ay, sir, here in the cupboard lies
The jacket he had ou."
"And so your lad is gone?"

"Gone with the Swan." "And did she stand
With her anchor clutching hold of the sand
For a month, and never stir?"
"Why to be sure! I've seen from the land,
Like a lover kiesing his leady's hand,
The wild sea kiesing her—
A sight to remember, sir."

But, my good mother, do you know All this was twenty years ago? I stood on the Gray Swan's deck, And to that had I saw you throw. Taking it off, as it might be, so— The kerchief from your neck." "Ay, and he'il bring it back."

That has made you sick and made you sad, Sail with the Gray Swan's crew ?" "Lawless! the man is going mad! The test boy mother ever had—
Be were he sailed with the crow!
What would you have him do P "And he has never written line

"And he has never written line,
Nor sent you word, nor made you sign
To say he was alive?"
"Hold! if 'twas wrong the wrong is mine;
Besides he may be in the brine,
And could he write from the grave?
Tut, man, what would you have?"

"Gone twenty years—a long, ong cruise— Twee wicked thus your love to abuse; But if the lad be still alive, And come back home, think you, you can Forgive him?" "Miserable man, You're mad as the sea-you rave-Wast have I to forgive?

The sailor switched his chirt so blue, And from within his bosom drow The kerchief. She was wild.

"My God! my Father! is it true?
My little lad, my Klibu?
My blessed boy, my child!
My dend, my living child."

He may not leave souls longing for comfort, still unsatisfied; and yet he may not speak to them anything but God's truth, nor withhold the warnings which God may bid him utter, the teachings, perhaps reproofs, for which such visitations of serrow open and prepare men's hearts. But if it be a duty hardly done, to minister thus as a messenger of God's comfort and instruction to some single stricken soul, or stricken household. how hard must it be to do the duty well and wisely, when a whole nation has been smitten, and every household feels the sorrow. If it be hard to fathem the sorrows of one weeping home, how hard to appreciate the mourning of a nation. If it be hard mourning of a nation. If it be hard to rise to the level of God's warning trees the level of God's warning the state of God's warning the state of God's warning of a nation. Consider again, the time. The time of triumph. Four years of long, wasting, and at times doubtful war just crowned by perhaps the most overwhelming victory of modern times. Four years of opposition at home from those who differed from him in their views of policy; opposited to shake even himself, subdued at last into willing acquiescence, and an acknowledgement of the justice and wisdom of his plans. His own heart was glad. The nation's heart was glad. The nation's heart was glad. The bonfires for victory were ready to be lighted; the whole land was preparing for the out-pouring of its joy, when one instant, one wicked heart, one bloody hand changes this swelling of joy into the thrill of chilling horror.

Davis' Coffee Set

From the Richmond Whig, April 17. We examined on Saturday the mechanism of one of those curious souvenirs of the war that, like their recipiants, "cannot escape history."-We allude to a fancy coffee or tea set, we do not know which, which formererly graced the mansion of President Jofferson Davis, but which was disposed of at auc ion with silverware, etc., by Messrs. Bell, Ellett & Co., She is its visible symbol, the living centre, in which are concentrated its power, its dignity, its honors, and on the course of true love before evacuation, when Mr. Davis concluded marriage never runs smooth, is a truth to "decline housekeeping" and make a tour for his health. The coffee or which can be expressed, the loyalty generally understood, that the course ten set in question is a perfect miniathat fills all hearts. To harm her is of true love after marriage, is equally ture or fue smalle of a railroad locomoto harm England. To speak against liable to perturbations. One reason tive with tender attached. It is to such as these, that we venture on the president, they are a few characteristics and to save the public through the very set of the President, they are a few characteristics and to save the public through the very set of the President, they are a few characteristics and that Government was purely by our consent. We were forgeting that they see before them no prespect extent of them no prespect extent of the stable. The whole establishment, fast table. The whole establishment, fast table. The whole establishment, and they see before them no prespect extent of the section of the president, and the section of the president. They love one another still, and the represent and the section of the sect of party madness, to forget the rever- ent occasion to address a few observa- the trouble of an effort of inspecting the mechanism we have described, we
